PROFILE

I am an experienced Full-Stack Web Developer/Designer with 5 years experience working on both the front-end and back-end of web applications. I am currently working in Lagos, Nigeria for Ventra Media Group as a Lead Web Developer on the Guardian Nigeria Platform.

PROFESSIONAL HISTORY

September 2016 - January 2017

Web Developer, VENTRA MEDIA GROUP

Lagos, Nigeria

Ventra Media Group is a full service digital agency and strategic partner for brands in Africa like DSTV, Guardian Nigeria, Ndani.TV, NotJustOk, and Nigerian Breweries.

We immerse ourselves in client's brand, get to know their audiences and understand their business needs and metrics. Our holistic strategies, campaigns, and collaborative approach ensure that our partners and clients get a good return on their investment.

ROLE

I am a lead developer for the Guardian Nigeria platform (<http://guardian.ng>, <http://tv.guardian.ng> and <http://life.guardian.ng>), which includes the development of cross-platform online newspaper sites, video platforms and social media integrations. My role requires:

- Writing software solutions using both front-end and back-end web technologies like PHP, CSS(SCSS), JavaScript and WordPress Development
- Learning new media publishing technologies and implementing them on the Guardian Nigeria platform.
- Working with External/third party APIs to create development solutions.
- Developing WordPress plugins
- Building WordPress themes

HIGHLIGHTS

For Guardian Nigeria, we developed a digital media platform and online TV service that increased their online presence and scaled to accommodate the increase in traffic as well as a redefined web experiences. As a result of our excellent work, we won the award for "Best News Website" by The Nigerian Internet Registration .NG media award in 2016 and 2017 as well as "Most Supporting Media Partner" by the award organizers. I helped improve this platform by carrying out development work, one of which involved integrating "The Guardian Life" platform into the Guardian News site.

One of the applications I help built is the “The Ventra Instagram Project”, which involved pulling images from Instagram accounts using Instagram’s API, add captions and hyperlinks to them, then list them out as listings on a webpage. An example of this is <http://instagram.guardian.ng>.

October 2015 - August 2016

Senior Front-end Developer / UX Designer, CKDIGITAL

Lagos, Nigeria

CKDigital is a Lagos based web design, web development, and digital marketing firm creating clean websites, and effective digital marketing campaigns that inspire customers, extend capabilities and advance businesses.

ROLE

- Lead the front-end development team and helped define the technological process and strategy for projects
- Interviewing and Evaluating potential front-end development candidates
- Assessment of the team’s skills to distribute appropriate workloads
- Coordinated with other teams to establish cross-departmental continuity
- Working with project team members to ship responsive, aesthetically-pleasing and engaging user experiences for the web
- Teach new web technologies to the front-end development team

HIGHLIGHTS

At CKDigital, we help clients which are usually SMEs, and startups establish a digital presence. I have participated in carrying out development and collaborative design work for more than 50 web sites/applications. These clients include and is not limited to InterC Network, SIFAX Group, Abbey Mortgage Bank and many more.

During the course of working at CKDigital, I helped design and build the agency’s current website. This has since then resulted in expressing a trustworthy brand towards the customers.
